New year, new healthier you?

With all the conflicting information out there, it's really hard to know what to do to lead a healthier life.

Have your 5 a day - but don't eat too much fruit because it's full of sugar. Cut down on alcohol - but a small glass of red wine a day is ok. Don't indulge in chocolate - but a square of dark is good for you. Reduce caffeine - but a cup of coffee a day is good for your heart. Who knows what's true!

Every day there seems to be new advice. So, we have come up with three simple changes that will help keep your mouth tip top - and as we know, a healthy mouth reflects a healthy body.

Tooth-kind drinks

There are two - milk and water. Simple. This includes dairy-free milk alternatives that are calcium enriched too. Drink smart to help protect tooth enamel - and have less fruit juice until you feel you can cut it out.

Love your gums

Brush twice a day for two minutes with fluoride toothpaste and floss before brushing. Flossing loosens bacteria and food debris from between your teeth, which allows brushing to be much more successful at removing plaque. Doing so will lower your risk of gum disease, which has been linked to more than 20 serious conditions including heart disease, bacterial lung infections, strokes, diabetes and problems with fertility and pregnancy.

Regular dental visits allow us to spot gum disease early, so make sure you book your essential dental and hygiene appointments.

Cut down on sugar

Sugar causes tooth decay. It is not just the amount of sugar in food and drink that matters but, more importantly, how often there are sugary things in the mouth. Sweet drinks (especially those in a bottle or with a sports cap), sweets and lollipops are particularly bad because the teeth are bathed in sugar for a considerable time. If you do have sugary treats, eat them with your main meal rather than between meals.

"I wish I'd had whitening sooner"

Our patient had wanted to have his teeth whitened for a long time. He wished he had done it sooner as he was thrilled with the result and so were we.

Teeth whitening is a simple, safe procedure with minimal surgery time and risks. This is when carried out by fully trained dental professionals - the only people legally allowed to perform tooth whitening procedures in the UK.

As you can see, the results can be striking. Please contact us for details by calling 01603 920313 or emailing info@riversidedental.co.uk.

Spotlight on - denture care

BRUSH YOUR DENTURES DAILY

Use a non-abrasive cleaner, not toothpaste

2

SOAK YOUR DENTURES DAILY

Use a denture cleanser to remove more plaque and disinfect your dentures

3

LEAVE YOUR DENTURES OUT AT NIGHT

Helps to relieve any soreness and prevent infection

4

VISIT YOUR DENTIST REGULARLY

Ensures your mouth remains healthy

1. Daily cleaning of dentures using mechanical action – brushing with a toothbrush or denture brush and an effective, non-abrasive denture cleanser (no dentifrice).

2. Daily soaking in a denture-cleansing solution – this seems to deliver extra chemical breakdown of the remaining plaque and some level of disinfection of the denture. Denture-cleansing solutions should only be used outside the mouth, and denture wearers should strictly follow the manufacturers' guidelines.

3. Denture wearers should not keep their dentures in the mouth overnight, unless there are specific reasons for keeping them in. This guideline is even more important for people at a higher risk of developing stomatitis and for frail or institutionalised older people. Soaking in a denture cleanser solution after mechanical cleaning seems to be beneficial for preventing denture stomatitis and the potential risk of pneumonia.

4. All patients who wear removable dentures should be enrolled into a regular dental recall and maintenance programme.

'2 billion people aged over 60 by 2050'

By 2050 there are expected to be two billion people aged 60 or older. This is more than double today's figure. The older you are, the more likely you are to have lost all, or nearly all, your natural teeth. This is why we recall you every 6 to 12 months, because your natural teeth are precious.

A global taskforce of academic experts brought together by the Oral Health Foundation has announced new guidelines (above) to address the needs of an ageing population worldwide and tackle the wealth of inconsistent and contradictory advice on the best care of dentures.

Dr Nigel Carter OBE, Chief Executive of the Oral Health Foundation believes the new guidelines will help end confusion about how dentures should be looked after.

Dr Carter says: "We have found that people with dentures do not know how they should be cleaning them. Our report shows that denture wearers use everything from soap and water to toothpastes, bleaches and commercial products. But with the variety of recommendations available online and from other sources, it is no surprise that people are confused.

"Incorrect denture care can pose a real threat to both the oral health and general health of denture wearers. We hope these new recommendations can reassure people about the best way to look after their dentures."

The risks associated with poor denture care are wide-ranging and include inflammation of the mouth, staining, changes in taste and bad breath. It has also been linked to wider health problems such as pneumonia, particularly in the frail elderly.
